

4 TIPS FOR SPEAKERS

Here's how you can help create the best experience for your audience with spf.io.

Breathe!

Take it easy, your audience wants to hear what you have to say. Pause between sentences. It will help your audience understand and the captions and translations will be clearer. If it helps, try using a clicker and practice clicking each time you finish a thought or utterance. The physical action will help you pause at just the right times.

Prepare.

Upload your slides, notes, outlines, manuscripts, any content you have to spf.io in advance. It will make captions and translations more accurate and give your audience a smoother, richer experience.

Practice...

Try practicing a few minutes of your talk with spf.io. Through experience, you'll learn what parts of your talk are easy to caption and what parts are challenging. You'll learn how your enunciation and pace make a difference. And you'll uncover the funny ambiguities of your speech that may even throw human listeners off!

And Relax :-)

Your talk may be seriously informative, delightfully fun, or emotionally moving. Give a grand performance and let the tech get out of the way. Spf.io simply enhances your presentation, conveying the drama, the theater, and the power of your content to your audience in a way that connects with them.
